November 12, 2018

Automated solution manages operations, inventory and trading requirements for sellers to online and store-based retailers

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPS Commerce, Inc. (Nasdaq:SPSC), a leader in retail cloud services, and Webgility, a leader in e-commerce automation software for multichannel sellers, today unveils their joint solution that equips midsize retail businesses with a single solution to manage their online and physical retail channels. The product combines the multichannel management capabilities of Webgility with the order fulfillment and retail trading expertise of SPS Commerce.

"Together with SPS Commerce, we've closed the gap between traditional retail and e-commerce," said Webgility's CEO Parag Mamnani. "Sellers can now sell seamlessly across all channels and run their businesses from a single, powerful software platform."

Webgility software unifies back-office operations making it easier to manage multiple channels, more efficient to process orders, and faster to scale even with growing complexity. With this partnership, sellers can connect their e-commerce platforms, their marketplace accounts, and their retail trading partners. The joint offering allows sellers to quickstart retail trading partnerships by automating the exchange of order, shipment and invoice information with any retailer. The solution provides an easy-to-use, scalable, cross-channel solution for growing businesses.

"Vendors no longer sell, or aspire to sell, through a single channel," said Jim Frome, COO at SPS Commerce. "This solution bridges their online and offline sales into a single, easy-to-use offering. As sellers grow their business, adding new retailers and channels, the solution scales with them so they can begin selling their products through thousands of retailers with just a few days' notice."

The joint offering is available immediately from SPS Commerce and Webgility.
