

SPS Commerce Partners with Business System Integrators to Provide SaaS EDI Services to the Exact Macola ES ERP Marketplace

Minneapolis, Minn., and Lawson, Missouri, June 15, 2010 - SPS Commerce (NASDAQ: SPSC), a leading provider of on-demand supply chain management solutions, and Business Systems Integrators LLC (BSI), a Microsoft-certified, Exact Macola Progression/ES add-on software and service provider, today announced that they have partnered to offer Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) EDI solutions for the Macola marketplace of small and mid-sized businesses (SMB).

"Macola users are looking for more choices when it comes to doing EDI with their trading partners to streamline their supply chain," stated Larry Knoch, CEO at BSI. "SPS' proven EDI services, delivered using a SaaS model, provide an alternative for these organizations to consider, one that will save them time and integrate well with their Macola ERP system. BSI is pleased to be a reseller of SPSCCommerce.net's EDI services for the Macola market."

Exact Macola ES is an ERP solution designed for the SMB marketplace, offering solutions for financial accounting, distribution and manufacturing.

"With more than 12 years of expertise in the Macola marketplace, BSI knows how to rapidly integrate value-added solutions to this ERP system, including EDI," said Archie Black, president and CEO of SPS Commerce. "We are pleased to partner with BSI and make our web-based EDI services available to Macola users leveraging the integration expertise of BSI."

About Business System Integrators Business Systems Integrators, LLC provides add-on and integration products that integrate best-of-breed solutions with Macola's Progression Series, ES and Globe product lines. BSI is Exact and Microsoft-certified and has been producing add-on products for ERP for fourteen years.
