SPS Commerce and XONITEK Partner to Deliver Integrated Supply Chain Solutions for Exact

On-Demand Offering Selected by Vendors to Automate Order Fulfillment and Trading Partner Collaboration

MINNEAPOLIS and NEW YORK, May 21, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPS Commerce (Nasdaq:SPSC), a leading provider of on-demand supply chain management solutions, and XONITEK, a management and technologies consulting firm, today announced a partnership for the Exact Macola community from two leading Exact partners. The joint solution delivers business leadership consulting, Exact integration expertise and on-demand supply chain solutions to help suppliers more rapidly comply with trading partner requirements for e-commerce and on-premise order fulfillment, and leverage these new efficiencies to attract new business.

"In late 2011, we were delighted when Exact introduced us to another Exact partner, SPS Commerce," said Robert Clarke, president of XONITEK. "SPS offers a proven cloud-based alternative to traditional EDI systems that our clients need. Our staff and customers have been impressed with how quickly SPS' services can be deployed and scale to grow with the supplier's business. Our joint customers are highly satisfied with their new integrated EDI solutions and are touting their EDI capabilities to the marketplace as a means to drive new business."

As a next-generation Exact partner, XONITEK is a management and technologies consulting firm with a worldwide presence and reputation for excelling in the optimization of business synchronization. Its experienced professionals possess a depth and breadth of technical, functional and industrial skills. SPS Commerce's cloud-based supply chain services improve the way suppliers, retailers, distributors and 3PLs build their trading partner relationships and manage and fulfill orders with pre-built integrations using 3,000 order management models across 1,500 retailers, grocers and distributors. SPS' Retail Universe, a social network for the supply chain, is designed to help the community's 40,000 members form new business partnerships based on product or integration requirements.

"SPS Commerce is pleased to team with another leading Exact partner, XONITEK," said Archie Black, CEO of SPS Commerce. "Our partnership comes on the heels of several successful customer deployments that have shown SPS' SaaS services and XONITEK's consulting to benefit suppliers within the Exact community. XONITEK's consultants are experts in business strategy, retail operations and Exact ERP systems. They are trusted advisors and systems integrators for many in the Exact community."
