SPS Commerce Announces SAP Certified Cloud EDI for SAP Business One

SPS Commerce Cloud EDI for SAP Business One Powered by zedSuite Relies on the SPS Universal Network to Streamline the Retail Supply Chain

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 9, 2014 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPS Commerce, Inc. (Nasdaq:SPSC), a leader in retail cloud services, today announced expanded support for SAP Business One to the SPS Universal Network, the retail industry's largest trading partner network. Developed by SAP Web solutions experts, zedSuite, the Cloud EDI Solution for SAP Business One provides a cloud-based service integrating trading partners to the industry's broadest retail trading network comprising more than 55,000 members. This single integration between SAP Business One and the SPS Universal Network provides retailers and suppliers the industry's first SPS- and SAP -certified integration solution.

"Our supply chain is characterized by complex trading relationships that require adaptability and agility to compete in today's omnichannel retail market," said Shawn M. Herzinger, vice president at P3 International, a supplier of environmentally friendly and technologically advanced products. "The powerful capabilities of the SAP Business One solution from zedSuite and SPS Commerce bring the promise of simplicity to our business and value to our retail customers."

The SPS Commerce Cloud EDI for SAP Business One is the latest addition to the growing portfolio of SPS-certified Universal Network solutions. Companies taking advantage of this cloud-based service simply join the SPS network once, connecting them to an unlimited number of retail trading partners, enabling rapid growth and streamlined supply chain expansion.

A multi-award winning SAP gold software solution and technology partner, zedSuite provides Web solutions that fully integrate with SAP Business One, enabling users to build on their existing SAP Business One foundation. "The collaboration between zedSuite and SPS Commerce represents an exciting new opportunity for SAP Business One customers," states Scott McMahon, vice president, zedSuite. "The combination of SPS's commerce solution with the extensive SAP Business One Web integration expertise that zedSuite brings will offer huge benefits to growing businesses looking to move upstream and expand their trading partner networks. We look forward to continuing to work together in providing customers with new ways to extend their investment in SAP Business One."

"We're thrilled to be partnering with the SAP Business One experts at zedSuite to bring a compelling omnichannel solution to the retail market," said Peter Zaballos, vice president of marketing and product at SPS Commerce. "The SAP Business One community will benefit from the connect once, infinite scale simplicity of Universal Network, now backed by the proven SAP expertise from zedSuite."
