

The Sportsman's Guide Improves Supply Chain Efficiencies with SPS Commerce's Trading Partner Enablement Solution

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22, 2010—SPS Commerce, a leading provider of on-demand supply chain management solutions, today announced that The Sportsman's Guide, a leading catalog and internet retailer of outdoor gear and clothing, has used SPS Commerce's Trading Partner Enablement solution, to automate their order, shipping and invoicing processes with more than 500 of their high-volume vendors in 2009.

"Our company completed two enablement programs with SPS Commerce in 2009 that focused on vendors using drop ship and ship to warehouse models," said John Casler, Executive Vice President of Merchandising and Marketing at The Sportsman's Guide. "Throughout the design, launch, and execution of the programs, SPS' expertise from successfully completing dozens of similar programs was apparent, and helped both The Sportsman's Guide and our vendors to smoothly transition to a more automated supply chain."

SPS' Trading Partner Enablement solution helps organizations, typically large retailers, implement new integrations with trading partners to drive automation and electronic communication across their supply chains. The solution offers a unique, non-exclusive enablement process, tools, and support services that have evolved into a suite of practices and templates used by thousands of vendors.

"We are pleased to have been selected by The Sportsman's Guide to provide the staff, technology and expertise to manage their enablement programs in 2009," said Archie Black, president and CEO of SPS Commerce. "It was our pleasure to help The Sportsman's Guide achieve their 2009 supply chain goals."
