SPS Commerce's David Novak to Present at NetSuite's SuiteWorld Conference on E-commerce Fulfillment

Drop-Ship Vendors Can Attain and Promote E-commerce Capabilities With SPSCommerce.net

MINNEAPOLIS, May 5, 2011 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPS Commerce (Nasdaq:SPSC), a leading provider of on-demand supply chain management solutions, today announced that its Executive Vice President, David Novak, will be speaking on e-commerce fulfillment at the upcoming NetSuite SuiteWorld conference on Tuesday, May 10, 2011, at 5:30 p.m. Pacific.

The presentation will address how vendors can capitalize on the growth in e-commerce to grow their business. It will specifically address:

- Tips for promoting e-commerce capabilities to retailers using new methods based on popular social networking techniques
- Expectations of drop-ship vendors by traditional retailers and e-tailers
- Best practices in e-commerce fulfillment including tips for increasing order and inventory visibility

"Traditional and e-tailers are using e-commerce to reach their consumers and offer more products without carrying inventory," said Archie Black, President and CEO of SPS Commerce. "This model is very efficient but brings new requirements and transaction volumes to suppliers. The drop-ship model for e-commerce requires vendors to rapidly fulfill hundreds or thousands of individual orders while providing frequent updates on item availability and shipment status to the retailer. Integrated with NetSuite or other solutions, SPSCommerce.net is able to assist a vendor in complying with these requirements with ease."

NetSuite users can learn more by visiting SPS Commerce at booth G157 at NetSuite's SuiteWorld, May 8-12, 2011 in San Francisco.
