

SPS Commerce Named a 2007 Tekne Award Finalist

Award Program Recognizes Minnesota Companies and Individuals for Technology Innovation and Leadership

Minneapolis, Minn., September 12, 2007 - SPS Commerce, the leading Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) provider of Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), has been named as a finalist for a 2007 Tekne Award, Minnesota's annual awards program that recognizes companies and individuals who have shown superior technology innovation and leadership.

Presented by the Minnesota High Tech Association (MHTA) in partnership with LifeScience Alley and Minnesota Technology, Inc., the Tekne Awards annually recognize Minnesota's best and brightest technology users and developers in innovation, development, education, commercialization and management of technology in Minnesota. A list of finalists is available online at www.tekneawards.org.

"The Tekne Awards have celebrated the growth of Minnesota's technology-based companies for nearly a decade and continue to recognize those who make groundbreaking contributions as technology continues to change and expand," said Kate Rubin, president of MHTA. "With the quantity and quality of award entries increasing significantly again in 2007, this year's award finalists prove that Minnesota is a hotbed for outstanding achievement and innovation in technology."

"All of us at SPS Commerce are pleased to be formally recognized for our continued growth and innovation by being named as a finalist for the 2007 Tekne award," said Archie Black, president and CEO of SPS Commerce. "The quality and variety of organizations named as finalists for this award each year clearly demonstrate the wealth of technological innovation in the Twin Cities and the region. SPS Commerce is pleased to be a part of this thriving technology marketplace."

The 2007 Tekne Awards will be presented on Thursday, November 1st at the Minneapolis Convention Center.
