JCurve and SPS Commerce Partner to Offer Cloud-Based Retail Supply Chain and E-Commerce Solutions in Australia and New Zealand

Cloud and Business Software Providers Team to Provide Expanded Solutions for Drop Ship Fulfillment and Supply Chain Integration and Leverage a Shared Partnership With NetSuite

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 14, 2011 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- SPS Commerce (Nasdaq:SPSC), a leading provider of on-demand supply chain management solutions, and JCurve, a software performance provider of cloud-based business IT solutions including e-commerce, CRM and ERP, have partnered to provide cloud-based solutions to small and mid-sized organizations in Australia and New Zealand. The organizations have teamed to help organizations streamline their e-commerce or drop ship operations, trading partner integration and supply chain collaboration by leveraging JCurve and SPSCommerce.net.

"We are delighted to be partnering with JCurve, an organization known for its comprehensive solutions tailored to meet the business performance needs of high-growth organizations in Australia and New Zealand," said Archie Black, president and CEO of SPS Commerce. "We recently opened our office in Sydney to provide local sales and support to the region, and are actively pursuing partners like JCurve with complementary cloud computing services to further increase the efficiency of our shared customers' supply chains."

"SPS Commerce is a proven supply chain solution provider with more than 40,000 customers worldwide," said Chris King, CEO at JCurve. "We are pleased to be teaming with them to provide robust, cloud-based solutions to the Australia and New Zealand marketplace and beyond."
